J. A. SHEETZ OF MONESSEN CANDIDATE FOR ASSEMBLY

Democratic Nominee Working Hard for Seat in State Legislature Tells Voters Where He Stands on Issues of the Campaign.

J. A. Sheetz, one of the Democratic nominees for Assembly in district No. 2 of Westmoreland county, is one of the best known men in the county. Previous to his removal to Monessen he served three years as tax collector of Greensburg borough, an office that he filled with signal ability and when he retired from the office it was with the respect and confidence of every citizen of Greensburg, irrespective of party.

He has been an ardent Democrat, though not an offensive partisan, and has always responded to the call of his party whenever occasion demanded Mr Sheetz has always taken an active interest in the affairs of the county and knows, perhaps, as well as any man in it, the needs and requirements of old Westmoreland. He is no man's man, but he has always been alive to the interests of the people. He has been tried and not found wanting in an official capacity, and if the people of Westmoreland county see fit to send him to Harrisburg they can rest assured that they will have a representative who is fearless and honest and not subservient to the lash of the political boss, and who has an interest in common with the masses.

Mr. Sheetz was loath to enter the fight but he responded to the appeal of his party and his friends and is in the fight in district No 2 with a vigor that is pleasing to his many friends throughout the county He has been a Democratic county committeeman for a number of years and made many friends while serving his party. Personally, he is a most pleasing gentleman and adds strength to the ticket placed before the people of Westmoreland county by the Democratic party

If elevated to the position of law maker of the State of Pennsylvania, Mr Sheetz will demonstrate that he is a friend of the masses. He will vote for a repeal of the Salus-Grady libel law which has been so offensive to the newspapers of the county. He will vote for a two cent railroad fare, eminent domain for trolley lines, and the right to carry freight and express. As a business man and citizen, Mr. Sheetz is among the staunchest in Monessen and, will receive strong support at the election next Tuesday.

He is the only candidate from this end of Westmoreland County and coming as he does from one of the most thickly populated sections, his friends predict he is a sure winner, and that if elected they have in him a worthy representative.

TWO YEARS FOR EACH WIFE.

Charles A Butler, the former Monongahela railroad patrolman, who plead guilty to having three wives, was yesterday sentenced at Uniontown to two years and $1,000 fine for bigamy, and four years for perjury, and was forever disqualified from giving testimony.

Butler first married Celia S Duerr, of Salvasville, Fayette County. Then he married Flora M Ramey, of Pensacola Fla. Butler induced his second wife's mother to move from the South to Allegheny, Pa, and they had scarcely settled when Butler left wife No. 2. In September of this year he married Pearl West, of Millsboro, a few miles above Brownsville.

LABOR TRIBUNE GIVES HUFF STRONG ENDORSEMENT

Testifies to His Worth as a Man, Public Servant and Fellow Citizen And Gives Reasons Why Voters Should Support Him.

No stronger endorsement of the character, ability and general worth of Hon. George F. Huff is necessary than is contained in the following article, which is reproduced from a recent issue of National Labor Tribune —

"It is with genuine pleasure that this paper endorses the candidacy of one of Westmoreland's favorite sons, a man who is recognized throughout the United States as a leader in the van of captains of industry and as a developer of coal lands he has no superior. The man in question is the Hon. George F Huff of Greensburg who by everlasting toil has turned barren territory into thriving communities where the happy miner and mechanic revel in healthy atmosphere with churches and schools in abundance Col Huff is again up for congress in the Twenty-first district, embracing Westmoreland and Butler counties, on the Republican ticket and from advices reaching this office he will be re-elected for his third term by an overwhelming majority His record stands out in bold relief as the most capable man in Western Pennsylvania to look after the wants of his constituents on all questions affecting their welfare By his enterprise the farmer was made independent by disposing of his coal lands at good prices and new lines of railroads were built, resulting in the employment approximately of 10,000 men As an employer of labor the genial colonel has taken a rank that puts him into a class by himself.

He served his country in the State legislature and was always on the right side of all questions affecting the masses. The same may be said of his record as a representative of the district in congress. He has shown himself a friend of the farmer in his work for a rural mail delivery Butler and Washington counties stand at the head in the number of routes. The old soldiers need not be told that they have a warm friend in him, as they have constant evidence in the pension bills that are secured through his efforts He is also interesting himself in the good roads movement and at present is engaged in building a mile of the State pike, personally directing the work, for the purpose of showing the State commission the best method of rebuilding the road and at a figure far below the estimated cost

On national issues Congressman Huff has always been found to be right as his vote on the Hepburn railroad rate bill showed. He is particularly strong on work affecting the interests of his district, and in this direction he is looked upon as one of the strongest men in congress by his colleagues in the house.

As is known, Colonel Huff was nominated for congress by the Republican primaries in that county by over 6,000 majority, and this fall the outlook is that he will be given a record-breaking majority over his opponent

Col. George F Huff has been signally honored on numerous occasions by the people of Westmoreland county. He has represented them twice in the house of congress, and this spring was again nominated by the Republicans to represent the Westmoreland-Butler district by over 6,000 majority. No small part of this vote came from the laboring men, especially the miners, not alone in his employ, but those employed by other concerns.

That Mr. Huff will be elected by an overwhelming majority this fall is conceded on all sides, and the best reason for this statement is in the fact that Congressman Huff has always shown himself to be a friend of labor

IT's a mean man who doesn't give his wife enough clothes, for her to speak of them as her wardrobe.

BUT when he came to writing the Thanksgiving proclamation, Theodore spelled prosperity out in full.

WHEN a woman says she married while hypnotized, it's a sign that another marital disillusionment has arrived.

THAT Colorado man who got a divorce in fifteen minutes, should explain his method for the general benefit of the race.

THE fact that an Ohio man saw a lizard coming out of a saloon keepers' hydrant, indicates that he had but a "slight attack."

NEEDLESS to say, that West Virginia woman who kept a $50 bill for forty years, lived in a small town, without hypnotic millinery window displays.

IT is said that since the Ohio jury sang hymns before convicting him of violating the law, John Rockefeller can't look a hymn-book in the face any more. Perhaps John D. Jr. will exclude it from his Sunday School class hereafter.

Holiday Crowds.

For some men it is sufficient recreation to have no work. The moment that the "knapsack of custom" falls from their backs they are happy. Not to awake in the morning with the thought of what must be done in the day is in itself a sufficient recreation. Naturally, they have no very definite taste in holidays. They go where it suits their purses or their wives or their children. To such men, though they may spend all their working days in the thick of a town, the sight of nature never becomes a necessity. It is a luxury, an agreeable augmentation of the sense of doing nothing. A holiday maker of this type very often goes to a watering place, one of those resorts which it is now the fashion for cultivated people to despise. Such contempt is a tectation. A number of happy people create, no doubt, an exhilarating atmosphere. Well behaved pleasure seekers make an agreeable and ever changing picture. A well kept public garden, a good band and a fine view form attractions which no continental affects to despise and English people do not despise it either if only the brightly dressed crowd should happen to talk in a foreign tongue.—London Spectator.

The Englishman Abroad.

An English observer says that he finds the American abroad both civil and genial: "I climbed to the top of Notre Dame in Paris and found there a party from across the Atlantic enjoying lunch. The day was hot, and a young man in the group offered me a refreshing drink. At the top of the lacework in marble which is the spire of Milan cathedral three English speaking men met accidentally—an American, an Englishman and myself. He who hailed from the land of the stars and stripes offered me his field-glass; the other did not even return our good morning salutation. In a beer garden at Lucerne I followed the custom of the continent and asked permission before sitting at a table of those already seated there. The only one who did not raise his hat and reply was an Englishman, and the only one to make excuses for him was a young man who prefixed his words with 'I guess.'"

Parchment.

Parchment is the skin of sheep or other animals prepared in sheets to render them fit for being written upon. The heavier parchment, used for drumheads, is made from skins of asses, older calves, wolves and goats. All these are similarly prepared. The skin, being freed from the hair, is placed in a lime pit to cleanse it from fat. The pelt is then stretched upon a frame, care being taken that the surface is free from wrinkles. The flesh is then pared off with a circular knife. It is then moistened and whiting spread over it. The workman then with a large pumice stone rubs the skin. He next goes over it with an iron instrument and rubs it carefully with pumice stone, without chalk. The skin is gradually dried, tightening being occasionally required.

Here is our condensed opinion of the Original Laxative Cough Syrup. "Nearly all other syrups are constipating especially those containing opiates. Kennedy's Laxative (containing) Honey and Tar moves the bowels. Contains no opiates. Conforms to the National Pure Food Drug Law. Sold By R. W. Beck.

Constipation

Baked sweet apples, with some people, bring prompt relief for Constipation. With others, coarse all-wheat bread will have the same effect. Nature undoubtedly has a vegetable remedy to relieve every ailment known to man, if physicians can but find Nature's way to health. And this is strikingly true with regard to Constipation.

The bark of a certain tree in California—Cascara Sagrada—offers a most excellent aid to this end. But, combined with Egyptian Senna, Slippery Elm Bark, Solid Extract of Prunes, etc., this same Cascara bark is given its greatest possible power to correct constipation. A toothsome Candy Tablet, called Lax-ets, is now made at the Dr. Shoop Laboratories, from this ingenuous and most effective prescription. Its effect on Constipation, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath, Sallow Complexion, etc., is indeed prompt and satisfying.

No griping, no unpleasant after effects are experienced, and Lax-ets are put up in beautiful lithographed metal boxes at 5 cents and 25 cents per box.

Read an old man's tribute.

Sidney Justus, fruit dealer, of Mentor, Ohio, says: "I was cured by Doan's Kidney Pills of a severe case of kidney trouble of eight or ten years' standing. I suffered the most severe backache and other pains in the region of the kidneys. These were especially severe when stooping to lift anything, and often I could hardly straighten my back. The aching was bad in the daytime, but just as bad at night, and I was always lame in the morning. I was bothered with rheumatic pains and dropsical swelling of the feet. The urinary passages were painful, and the secretions were discolored and so free that often I had to rise at night. I felt tired all day. Half a box served to relieve me, and three boxes effected a permanent cure."

G. B. Burham of Carlisle Center, N. It entirely stopped the brick dust sediment, and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I'm glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptons during the four years that have elapsed and I am evidently cured to stay cured, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble." The Ladies' Roses

(Original.)

There were eight passengers in the coach, six men and two women, and every man was armed. Gentleman John, as he was called, had robbed the coach the day before and had told the driver to say that he would rob the next one to pass over the road The consequence was, this being the next coach, that the sheriff, disguised as a parson, was in it, and the two "women" were disguised deputies. But their identity was not known to the passengers.

"Oi'd like to see this gentleman road agent git any of my money," remarked a Hibernian. "They say he's mighty quick on the trigger, but Oi'll keep me finger on mine the while."

"Some of us down in Mississippi, whar I come from, are in the habit of usin' guns," drawled a man in a broad brimmed hat.

"Oh, we won't see Gentleman John," said the supposed clergyman. "He isn't the fool to give us warning."

"He give 'em warning on the Denver line," said a young fellow in a high choker collar. "They were on the lookout for him, but the first thing they knew he was on the coach step and had every one inside covered. Every passenger was armed, but no one dared draw."

The stage stopped at a tavern, the door was opened, and a woman with a bunch of roses in her hand was about to enter when she drew back, saying that she wouldn't travel with men alone. Apparently she did not see the deputies, who were on the back seat, and when they were pointed out to her she sprang into the coach. As she was about to seat herself she dropped her bouquet. The young man in the choker collar picked it up and handed it to her. She received it with a smile and, taking from the bunch the largest rose, gave it to him He thanked her and put it to his nose. Then the conversation was resumed as to Gentleman John.

"Has any one ever seen him unmasked?" asked the sheriff, fishing for information.

"No," replied the Irishman, "he's modest as a gyrrl. He hides his face as the women do in Turkey."

"They say he's about forty," said one of the deputies.

"Who are you talking about?" asked the woman with the roses.

"Gentleman John. He's going to rob this coach."

"Law sakes! Let me out! Driver, stop!"

"You can't get out here," said the sheriff "You'd have too far to walk back Besides, the fellow isn't fool enough to forewarn us."

"We are all ready fo' him," the Mississippian remarked.

"I'm 'fraid to death o' these western road agents," said the woman. "I wish I was back east where I came from," and she trembled like a leaf

"Don't ye be afeared," said the Irishman "If anything happens we'll look out for the women folks"

The woman, who was still shivering, looked at a window through which a raw wind was blowing The Irishman, who sat next it, put it down He was rewarded with a rose. Then the donor, imploring the men to save her if the coach was attacked, gave each man a rose. This left two roses, which she handed to the supposed woman.

"Delicious," remarked the southerner, sniffing his flower. "Reminds me of ou' beautiful flowe', the magnolia"

Every one in the coach was sniffing, and, the windows being closed, the fragrance permeated the pent up atmosphere

It was now getting dark, and as the coach lumbered slowly along one by one the party dropped off to sleep The first one to go to dreamland was the youth in the choker collar, whose head fell against the Mississippian The Irishman leaned upon the sheriff, and the two deputies leaned on each other A red headed miner was the only one awake, and he made an attempt to open a window, but the woman caught his hand and prevented him He looked at her appealingly and made an effort to raise the window without her permission. She drew a revolver from somewhere in her skirts and pushed its muzzle up against his forehead Then she picked up his rose, which he had thrown on the floor, and held it under his nose.

"Sniff!" she commanded in a voice that had lost all its femininity "Sniff with your nose or you'll sniff through a hole in your head."

The man sniffed vigorously, preferring insensibility to death, and the woman soon threw his head back on the cushion, where it remained quiescent.

There were now eight insensible persons in the coach and one very wide awake. The woman threw off her outside apparel, displaying a woolen shirt and trousers tucked in boots. Indeed, she was no woman at all, but a young fellow barely twenty, with cheeks rosy from vermilion paint. He first relieved the sheriff of his belongings, then his deputies, then each man in turn. He got very little for his pains, but this didn't seem to distress him, for he chuckled as though greatly pleased. Having finished his work, he opened the coach door and stepped down into the road, carefully closing the door behind him.

When the driver drew up at the road house door at the next relay and the landlord came out with a light to see if the passengers wanted anything, he found a smell of drugs and a coach load of insensible people. In the one vacant seat were their empty pocket books, and slipped in a fold in the cushion above them was a card on which were the letters "Gentleman John." ROSE TREAT THURBER.

Stock Company Next Week.

When the ladies attend the theatre now-a-days they expect to look upon the stage in a more or less sense as a reflex of prevailing fashions, especially when plays of a modern story are being interpreted. This means that the respective actresses and actors of the company must be thoroughly equipped with the latest and most stunning gowns and other essential articles of latest wearing apparel. In no company on the road today are more stunning or costlier gowns worn than those shown by the members of the Chauncey-Keiffer Company, which will play a week's engagement in the Monessen Opera House, beginning Monday evening Nov. 5th. The dresses and costumes of Miss Grace Keiffer, the popular star of this organization, are said to be the finest on the stage today. Miss Keiffer dresses her parts with infinite care, giving special attention to every little detail, and when she steps on the stage she is a picture of delight to every one in the audience.

This company does not rely entirely on the manner in which its respective members dress their parts to win success. A car load of special scenery is also carried, and for each and every play there is special features in this line. Headed by Miss Keiffer, this attraction is composed of ladies and gentlemen who know their art and who have won individual success in their respective line. It is a strong and well balanced company and local patrons will get more than their money's worth during the engagement of this company.
